

In order to support development of investment environment, it is important to advance relationship between private sector and government authorities for more effective use of their capacities and activities. Economy of developed countries significantly bases on the existence of successful businesses in the country and on the concern about their development, which plays decisive role for public's increased involvement in the private sector. We believe that starting point of its development should be to give preferential consideration to the interests, experience and challenges of Georgian businessmen.